Screening of the Guardians film	A visually dazzling meditation on the delicate balance between human and nature, The Guardians elegantly interweaves the lives of the iconic monarch butterfly with an indigenous community in Mexico. Both depend on the same ancient forest for their survival and now face an uncertain future. Migrating 3,000 miles to hibernate in the towering Oyamel, the monarch population faces collapse, hitting a record low of 33 million, down from 1 billion just twenty years ago. In the valley below, the people of Donaciano Ojeda must carve out a sustainable future in their ancestral lands now part of the protected Monarch Butterfly Biosphere Reserve. Once loggers of this forest, they've made a radical decision to stop and to regrow it instead. Santos, a charismatic avocado farmer and Aristeo, a philosophical tree caretaker are the storytellers of the community as they face new threats of illegal logging, internal divisions, and their own mortality. Shot over three years, this intimate documentary takes viewers on a cinematic journey through the butterfly dense	6/19/2018	8:00 PM	Cinecenta Films Student Union Building 3800 Finnerty Road University of Victoria	Victoria	BC	V8P 5C2	jl@pollinator.org

It's National Pollinator Week: A Backstage Pass at the Native Seed Farm	Join Farm Steward hosts during National Pollinator Week, as they showcase the flourishing flowers and their pollinators on a two-hour nature walk through Irvine Ranch Conservancy's Native Seed Farm. What pollinators are attracted to those beautiful blossoms, birds, bees, or bats? Learn about pollinators and how you can attract these amazing creatures to your garden. Bees, beetles, moths, butterflies, bats, and birds are just a few of the animals that help create an ecosystem right in your own backyard! See which native plants are grown at the Native Seed Farm and what role they play in our restoration efforts. This program includes a tour of the Native Seed Farm which grows 50 species of native plants to be used on the Land. Bring your camera to take photos of the beautiful blooms and learn about WHERE THE RESTORATION BEGINS!	6/17/2018	10:00:00 AM	Directions will be sent when you register.	Irvine	CA	92620	This activity is offered by the Irvine Ranch Conservancy and their dedicated volunteers. All programs are FREE unless noted. This program is led by IRC-Certified Volunteers and requires pre-registration, which closes at 4 p.m. the day prior to the event. No walk-up registrations will be permitted for these events. Minors must be accompanied by a parent or guardian, who must also pre-register. To register and for more details on programs on the Irvine Ranch Natural Landmarks visit LetsGoOutside.org/activities .

Pollinator Pathway Exhibit at the San Diego County Fair	VISIT THE POLLINATOR PATHWAY TO CELEBRATE POLLINATORS AND THE DELECTABLE FOODS THEY MAKE POSSIBLE Composed of educational and experiential components, the Pollinator Pathway exhibit is designed to inform visitors about the beauty and importance of pollinators, and specific actions they can take to benefit pollinators, whether on your patio or in a backyard garden. Why we focus on pollinators: In the United States, pollinators are responsible for 75 percent of our food supply. That is one of every three bites of food we eat! Pollinators help produce some of nature's finest sweets and baking ingredients: chocolate, pumpkins, blueberries and strawberries. Pollinators are critical to our food supply and the plant diversity we find in nature, yet across the nation, they are disappearing. At the Pollinator Pathway exhibit, you will learn more about bees, butterflies and other pollinators, and how to help them thrive. Exhibit highlights: Native gardens-walk through our native pollinator garden and learn how to transform your	6/16/2018	12:00 PM	2260 Jimmy Durante Blvd.	Del Mar	CA	92014	http://www.rcdsandiego.org/san_diego_county_fair_pollinator_garden.aspx

The photographs are part of an ongoing wild bee project undertaken by photojournalist and writer Paula Sharp and nature photographer Ross Eatman, who began documenting wild bees inhabiting New York's Rockefeller State Park Preserve and neighboring Stone Barns Center for Food and Agriculture in 2014.	6/12/2018	10:00:00 AM	Bruce Museum, 1 Museum Drive	Greenwich	CT	6830	Visit https://brucemuseum.org/site/exhibitions_detail/wild-bees or call 203-869-0376

Dr. Kim Stoner will give a talk on Developing Alternatives to Insecticides and Providing Habitats for Honey Bees and Wild Bees in Connecticut	Planting for the Bees' Needs – Providing Habitat for Honey Bees and Wild Bees Did you know that Connecticut has 349 species of bees – and honey bees are only one species? Bees are important to us for producing honey and wax and pollinating our crops, and they also are important to the health of our environment, pollinating our native wild plants. We get many of our ideas about bees from what we know about honey bees, but honey bees are very different from our native wild bees. Learn about the life cycles of bees, where they live, and what plants they need to thrive, and how to protect them from pesticides.	6/21/2018	12:00 PM	231 Capitol Ave.	Hartford,	CT	06106	https://ctstatelibrary.org/2015-third-thursdays-fall-schedule/

Creating Healthy Habitat for the Rusty-patched Bumblebee	In 2017 the Rusty-Patched Bumblebee became the first bumblebee to be listed as federally endangered. Discover the life history of this important pollinator species, and learn about recovery efforts that are underway in Illinois. Presenter Fayette Aurelia Nichols is active in the restoration of habitat for the Rusty-patched Bumblebee and will share her extensive knowledge of the bee's habitat requirements, challenges in management of natural areas for this species, and how to recognize potential habitat for species recovery. After a presentation indoors, we'll head out into the prairie to find native pollinators. We'll observe the differences between the European honeybee and several species of native bumblebees.	6/17/2018	1:00 PM	Creek Bend Nature Center, LeRoy Oakes Forest Preserve, 37W700 Dean ST.	St. Charles	IL	60175	programs@kaneforest.com 630-444-3190
Bee Blitz!	The best way to learn is by doing – and in this class, you'll do both! The Forest Preserve District's Natural Resources team will provide an introduction to monitoring local bee populations via photography. After instruction in general bee identification and monitoring protocol, we'll go out into the prairie to get data. You'll be assigned a pre-determined monitoring spot for photographing the bees. You can use the camera on your phone, a digital SLR, or any "point-and-shoot" camera. The District ecologist will then download all the data collected. This "Bee Blitz" will provide baseline data that will help guide future management decisions.	6/17/2018	3:00 PM	Creek Bend Nature Center, LeRoy Oakes Forest Preserve, 37W700 Dean ST.	St. Charles	IL	60175	630-444-3190

Bees & Butterflies	Join us as we close out National Pollinator Week with an event that's fun for the whole family! Pollination is a very important part of the life cycle of plants. In fact, they cannot produce fruit or seeds unless they are pollinated. Event Schedule: 10am: Special Guest Speakers 11am: Children's book reading, immediately followed by Butterfly Release. Our experts will be available for questions after their talks. Meadowbrook Park BeeBlitz	A guided expedition through Meadowbrook Park's Sensory Garden and Spomer Prairie is departing from the Garden Pavilion. Bring your camera or smartphone and comfortable walking shoes, and be ready for an adventure! We will take a stroll through Meadowbrook Park in search of bees to photograph and upload to BeeSpotter, the citizen science project tracking bee demographics in Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, & Ohio. Please call 217-384-4062 by Friday, June 15 to let us know you are coming. Meet at the Garden Pavilion in Meadowbrook Park (Race St. entrance) (view on map: https://goo.gl/K4aQ7K)	6/16/2018	10:30 AM	101 W. Windsor Rd	Urbana	IL	61802	https://beespotter.org/beeblitz

Pollinatorium BeeBlitz	Join us at the Pollinatorium on June 16, from Noon - 4:30PM to kick off another National Pollinator Week. The University of Illinois Pollinatorium is the first free-standing science center in the nation devoted to flowering plants and their pollinators. It's surrounded by prairie, so it's the perfect place to spot some bees! We will venture out into the fields surrounding the Pollinatorium and photograph honey & bumble bees, then upload the photos to BeeSpotter. We encourage you to bring your camera or smartphone, though we will have cameras available for those who need one. We will also have computers available so you can upload your sightings immediately, should you wish to do so. This event is free and open to the public. Feel free to come for the whole time or stop in for only part of the event. We'd love to have you join us, even if only for 20-30 minutes!	6/16/2018	12:00 PM	606 W Windsor Rd (view on map: https://goo.gl/4xqJTF)	Urbana	IL	61801	https://beespotter.org/beeblitz
Pollination Celebration	The Monticello Farmers' Market and area organizations and businesses have joined together to create a week long celebration in honor of Illinois Pollinator Week (June 18-24). Join us for a Wildflower Hike, a Pollinator Documentary Screening, and join in several activities at the Farmers' Market. www.facebook.com/events/245110336055434/	6/21/2018	3:30 PM	State Street	Monticello	IL	61856	2178403057
BeeBlitz 2018	Join us on Saturday, June 16, 2018 for the fourth annual BeeBlitz, taking place at the beginning of National Pollinator Week! All residents of Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, and Ohio are invited to canvas their backyards and neighborhoods for bees, snap some pics, and upload them to BeeSpotter on Saturday, June 16th. The name BeeBlitz is derived from a BioBlitz, an activity in which all of the biodiversity in a specific area is examined, to provide a snapshot in time of the flora and fauna present. BeeSpotter wants to know what species of honey & bumble bees are seen, and where they are, on the weekend of the 16th. We encourage veteran and aspiring bee spotters alike to venture out on a nature walk and participate in the blitz. If you are interested in coordinating a BeeBlitz event in your area, please contact us (https://beespotter.org/contact); we'd love to highlight your efforts! https://beespotter.org/beeblitz	6/16/2018	8:00 AM	Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, & Ohio	Illinois, Missouri, Indiana, & Ohio	IL, MO, IN, OH		https://beespotter.org/beeblitz
What's All the Buzz about Pollinators Walk	Pollinators are all the 'buzz' in the animal world, but why? Pollinators, Plants and People – Improving Pollinator Habitat in the Urban Environment	With bee populations being threatened by colony collapse, lack of quality habitat, disease and pesticide use, it is critical that we address the issues and provide as much healthy habitat as possible. Urban landscapes offer a large range of opportunities to incorporate pollinator plant species and techniques. These projects also pose challenges with regard to maintenance, heavy use, harsh growing conditions, and public perception. This presentation and panel discussion will investigate established and emerging strategies for developing appropriate habitat to support pollinators that also work for urban conditions.	6/19/2018	6:00 PM	979 3rd Ave	New York	NY	10022	http://aslany.org/event/aslany-pollinators-urban-environment/
